Naloxone saves lives If you or someone you know has experienced an overdose before, or is at risk of an overdose, it may be a good idea to get a Naloxone kit from your nearest syringe exchange program or pharmacy. Visit nchrc.org for overdose prevention info, LEAD program info, and harm reduction info. "It starts with believing that you are worth saving, and you are. Just think, you have somewhere to start from! Pain does not help me change....it just makes me want to die, passion is what pushes me and helps me keep on moving when life gets tough. There is nothing more difficult and complicated than our struggle, but harm reduction is a philosophy for living that accepts any positive change. I believe that I can make a small positive change today." LV
